About the Academic Discourse

Academic Discourse is indented to serve as a comprehensive forum for theoretical and empirical research in cross-border issues. Being a refereed international journal it provides an interdisciplinary forum for the publication of theoretical perspectives, research findings, case studies, policy analyses and book reviews. We particularly welcome submissions that improve our conceptual understanding or propose policy and developmental tools by analyzing empirical evidence, whether qualitative, quantitative or anecdotal. The scope of journal is not limited to particular issues or particular region but worldwide.
