About the European Journal of Personality

In terms of academic journals, the European Journal of Personality and the Indian Journal of Personality both focus on the study of personality and individual differences. The European Journal of Personality is a peer-reviewed journal that publishes research articles, reviews, and scientific notes on all aspects of personality and individual differences, including personality theory, assessment, and development.

The Indian Journal of Personality, on the other hand, is an open-access journal that publishes original research articles, reviews, and case studies on topics related to personality, social psychology, and mental health. It aims to promote research on Indian populations and foster cross-cultural collaborations between researchers from India and other countries. Both journals offer valuable insights into the study of personality and individual differences and can be useful resources for researchers, psychologists, and clinicians working in these fields. We offer these journals on our online platform. What are you waiting for? Subscribe today and get your magazine.
