About the Journal of Prevention and Health Promotion

The Journal of Prevention and Health Promotion (JPHP) is an interdisciplinary scholarly publication dedicated to the dissemination of information in the field of prevention science and wellness promotion. JPHP is blind peer reviewed, presenting scholarly work in the field of prevention science and health promotion in specific domains (e.g., college campuses, schools, community mental health services and similar settings) or with specific modalities (e.g., group work, community engagement, educational programs). Contributions focus on prevention and wellness promotion: theory, research, practice, advocacy, training, or a combination of these topics.
